FOREWORD

This year's CENTURY was prepared under wartime conditions. Therefore, many complications were involved. With the fine cooperation of the entire student body, faculty, and Board of Education it has been possible to publish this, the 1945 edition of the CENTURY.

We think it will live up to the expectation of everyone and hope that all of you enjoy reading it as much as we have enjoyed preparing it.

A TRIBUTE

With sincere regard to those who are so nobly carrying on this war, we, the Seniors of 1945, wish to give our utmost thanks and respect to the former members of K. H. S. who are now fighting for us.

To us they have become more than friends; they have become a symbol, a sign of liberty-loving people all over the world. They have turned from high school youth to tough, seasoned fighting men. To them we say, "Thanks!"

Some of these boys have fallen in battle, never to arise in this world. To them we cannot give enough thanks. Only fond memories of their past can be the link between us. They have died for what they knew was right.

SITTING: George Shippy, Wesley Hardy.

DEDICATION

A man can say his life has been a success if he has attained the respect and appreciation of those around him.

To express our respect and appreciation which you have attained by the interest you have shown in our social and educational activities, we, the Senior Class, dedicate this 1945 CENTURY to you, the School Board of Kelloggsville School.

CLASS HISTORY

In our happy kindergarten circle there were Dorothy Babbitt, John Hage, Nora Jensen, Ron Bergin, Phyllis Charon, Ken Doxtater, Louie Poll, Ruth Mills, and Mae Yerrick.

When we were frisky Freshmen, Miss Brennan and Miss Sanford supervised a gigantic paper-drive contest in which the boys proved the victors. Our Freshman year was climaxed with a spring picnic at Johnson Park.

As Sophomores, we began taking high school in earnest. The "Clothespin Social" increased our treasury and our self-esteem. At this point, we began to draw respect from the upperclassmen. Our advisors were Miss Sanford and Mrs. Swenson. Our annual picnic was held at Johnson Park with the usual festivity and fun.

Our Junior year was crowded with business, and pleasure — with pleasure holding the upper hand. Our advisors, Mrs. Rundio and Mrs. Spaude, guided us through our class project, skating parties at the Coliseum and the Penthouse. January found us planning our Junior-Senior Prom. We chose "Winter Frolic" as its name and centered our decorations around this theme. Our class rings arrived in February.

Our treasury was increased by the production of "Good Night, Ladies," a comedy given successfully by Juniors and Seniors working together.

Our Junior picnic was a "super" affair at good old Johnson Park with plenty of eats, games, and mosquito bites.

As Seniors, we had Miss Wray and Mrs. De Koster as advisors. For our class projects we sponsored dances and edited the Century. The year began enthusiastically with our Senior trip, which was planned for November 20-22. Journeying to Chicago by Greyhound, lodging at Hotel La Salle, and sightseeing at various points of interest made our Senior trip pleasant and enjoyable.

On the evening of January 25, 1945, five of our group graduated. We said bon voyage to Dorothy Babbitt, Lewis Drukker, John Hage, Darrell Hussey, and Nora Jensen — all of whom expected to go into the service of our country. On this same night, the Junior-Senior Prom, "Winter Whirl," took place in the library.

Our annual picnic brought to an end our happy, unforgettable Senior year. Thursday evening, June 7, robed in white caps and gowns, we received our diplomas. In our hearts we felt that, fortified with the courage of youth, the knowledge we had gained, and the blessings of our parents and friends, we were ready to start a new day with a song of hope.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior class of Kelloggsville High School, being of sound mind, memory, and understanding, and being physically fit, do make, publish, and declare the following our last Will and Testament:

ARTICLE I

A. We give to the Juniors our Senior dances plus all the headaches involved.

B. We give to the Sophomores our ability to get around the teachers.

C. We give to the Freshmen our ability to cooperate and have good times as a class.

D. We give to the Eighth Graders our dignity and our orderly class meetings.

E. We give to the faculty a new group of seniors to fret and fuss over.

F. We give to the student body as a whole our appreciation of Kelloggsville and the finer things it has taught us.

ARTICLE II

1. I, Dorothy Babbitt, leave my frankness to Bill Doot.
2. I, Joyce Baldwin, leave my knowledge of science to Jon Zevalkink.
3. I, Ron Bergin, bequeath my stately limousine to Allen Stickney.
4. I, Claude Carter, leave my dimples to Roger Bartz.
5. I, Phyllis Charon, bequeath my giggle and my curly hair to Barbara Vander Meer.
6. I, Blanche Clark, leave my dark hair to Marian Piersma.
7. I, Pat Cook, leave my witty remarks and gruesome facial expressions to Eleanor Nelson.
8. I, Ken Doxtater, do will my good marks to Louis Miller.
9. I, Lewis Drukker, leave my dainty feet to Ted Braybrook.
10. I, John Hage, bequeath my friendly insults to Pat Haynes.
11. I, Darrell Hussey, leave my ability to wangle excuses to Don Shippy.
12. I, Nora Jensen, leave my quiet, good nature to Jack Larabel.
13. I, Lois Knight, do leave my ability to get to the mirror first in the morning to comb my hair to Bob Swart.
14. I, Ruth Mills, leave my ability to catch on to jokes — slowly — to Betty Barlow.
15. I, Delores Petris, will my artistic ability to Lillian Pelton.
16. I, Louie Poll, leave my argumentative disposition to Harold Hansen.
17. I, Angela Steffes, leave my calmness and clear thinking to Gwenda Bartlett.
18. I, Joe Talsma, leave my willing co-operation at all times to anyone worthy of it.
19. I, Vern Weaver, leave my sense of humor to Rodney Finkbeiner.
20. I, John Wood, leave my suave Charles Boyer-manner to Bob Hartford.
21. I, Lorena Wolf, leave my sweetness to Dolores Wells.
22. I, Mae Yerrick, bequeath my industrious ambition to Lorraine Longstreet.

THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED FORTY-FIVE

CLASS PROPHECY

Vern Weaver's curiosity, plus his decided interest in the power of the stars to foretell the future of all mankind, prompted him to consult a mastermind in the realms of astrology. To his great delight, his firm convictions were strengthened as this mastermind looked at the heavens through his immense telescope to reveal the secrets of the future of our Class of '45.

"Tell me all," said Vern to the star-gazer of renown. "Tell me all you see."

Quoth the learned star-gazer, "This is as plain to me, as easy to see, as the stars themselves. Delores Petris is her name now, but she will be known as Mademoiselle de la Petri, Hollywood's famous fashion designer for the lovely ladies of the cinema.

"Ken Doxtater will be happy — extremely so — as professor of Women's Psychology at Vassar College.

"Joyce Baldwin, as curator of a museum in Ghost City, Utah, is seen rummaging among funny fossils, skinny skeletons, and mortifying mummies.

"Lois Knight and her gorgeous smile will be sailing up the River Nile. Explorer, excavator, adventuress, she will be digging up all she can uncover — an old hobby grown up!

"And Johnny Hage, best of his kind in the world, is seen as a 'barker' for Ringling Brothers Circus, attracting crowds galore. What is that he is announcing? That Blanche Clark, who with her husband has held the crowd breathless with daring trapeze antics, is going to dive 200 feet into a tub of water!"

"Incredible!" says Vern to his star-gazer.

"The stars never lie!" comes back the undaunted soothsayer's answer.

"Go on. Go on," urges Vern.

"Very well," says the star-gazer. "Two young ladies by the names of Nora Jensen and Dorothy Babbitt, registered nurses, will be making a name and fortune for themselves as sole owners of an institution for the insane. Everybody will be nuts about them!

"Claude Carter, dwelling near the metropolis of Caledonia, will be running a 'Slick Chick Ranch.' He was such a good egg.

"Phyllis Charon's name will be on everyone's tongue. Screams will be heard from the young fellows who throng the galleries of our broadcasting stations as she conducts her own orchestra, which plays her original love lyrics and juicy jive!

"And John Wood! Yes, sir, a mortician will he be. ("That's what he gets for taking those 'stiff' courses in school," thought Vern.)

"And Mae Yerrick, bless her heart, will be the owner of a chain of 'Wee Wobble Inn' Restaurants, known throughout Michigan, Illinois, and Ohio.

"Lewis Drukker is revealed as sole owner of Drukker's Drugless Health Institute, located in Chicago's Loop. He chose a setting where wealthy, old men pay fabulous sums just to be under the expert guidance of this famous physical health director.

"Lorena Wolf will marry a bureaucrat from Washington, D. C.! 'Swanky' is her life as she attends teas, concerts, dinners, and diplomatic receptions where she meets all the political celebrities of our nation's capital. One of those celebrities is none other than our own Louie Poll, senator from Michigan — Republican, of course — whose speeches rock the Senate and sway the nation.

"Pat Cook's life is really going to be different from the sheltered one she has lived so far. Clearly I see it. There are eight — yes, eight — little children. She's going to live in Alaska with her family and prospector husband." Says the soothsayer now, "I can see Pat in her little shanty, listening to the radio and smiling as she listens to the golden voice of Darrell Hussey as he gives 'Aunt Sarah's Savory Soup' recipes over Station C.O.R.N.

"Angie Steffes' business ability, which was so promising in school, set her on the road to success. She, believe it or not, will become the first woman-president of a huge furniture factory right here in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"Ron Bergin, whose presidential worries and griefs were brought on by the Class of '45, is now a temporary resident of the Babbitt-Jensen Institution. At present his favorite pastime is carving 'Der Fuehrers' out of Lux Flakes. But, that is not all. I see a great future for Mister Bergin. After his rest, he will be leader of the famous, nation-wide political party, the Berginites.

"And there is Ruth Mills. You know, she saved so much money while working for National Brass that she was able to buy stock in the company. Through clever manipulation and dividends, Ruth's money floats in like fog around K. H. S. on February mornings.

"And Joe Talsma — a coach of coaches will he be! Many colleges and universities will make him very attractive offers, but only with the University of Southern California will he sign a contract."

Vern stirred uneasily as the star-gazer's conversation suddenly lapsed into silence. "You have foreseen the destiny of all my classmates, and I'm sure you have read correctly the signs of the planets. Tell me — isn't there just one more you see, or is my fate obscured from view?"

"Well, lad," answered our astrologer, with a radiant and approving smile, "when I am old and totter around on a younger man's arm, I'll need for support a young man whose interests are mine, whose intellect is keen, whose innate powers are linked, even as mine, with the thrill of foretelling events by heaven's light. Look here, my boy; yon stars do form the letters of his name — V. W. Do you know him?"

Through the Seniors' mighty telescope located deep in the heart of the Earth, we observe our nearest neighbors, the Juniors, on the planet of MARS.

On January 25, they came down to Earth long enough to sponsor the "Winter Whirl," which was a great honor to the Seniors.

There are two rival cities on Mars: Coliseum and Penthouse. People traveling from other planets attended the skating festivals at these two cities.

The inhabitants are distinguished by their insignia on pins, rings, and lockets.

We have heard rumors of a great migration of these people to Earth next year.

The inhabitants of the planet JUPITER are high-pressure salesmen. Their merchandise has been miniature pictures, initial emblems, and Christmas cards. As a result of their enthusiastic efforts, the banks on Jupiter are very well filled.

Because of their teamwork and co-operation, they have won a name for themselves and the respect of all of the other planets in the universe. Their athletic prowess in baseball, football, basketball, and boxing has also made them distinguished.

VENUS is the most densely populated planet. Especially are these people noted for their loyalty in attending school activities. It has been predicted that they will contribute championship teams for the years '48 and '49.

Among their activities was the formation of an orchestra, "The Kelloggsville Kut-Ups."

We, the Seniors, would like to give some down-to-earth advice to these inhabitants of Venus: participate in all of the sports and activities, but keep up your school work. In this way you will have a very successful trip through the universe.

These fleet footed children of MERCURY won their title by their constant dashing through space.

There must be a war on this planet because we have heard of two rival teams, the "Rambling Rockets" and the "Flying Arrows," selling war stamps and bonds.

In February, part of the population migrated to a region of higher learning.

FOOTBALL

One of the most important events of the football season was the game with Union, played at Houseman Field. This was the first time in the history of Kelloggsville that our team has played a class "A" team.

The Kelloggsville Rockets won the Barkenall Trophy for the sixth time in the history of the high school. This ended a successful year in football.

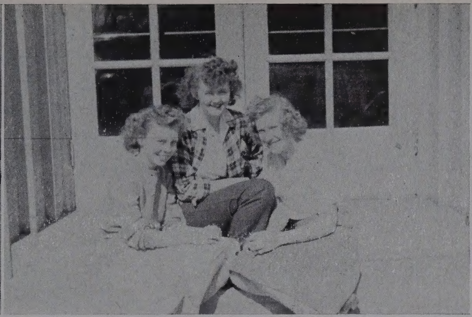
Secretary	Bernice Fennema	Vivian Yerrick
Treasurer	John Hage	Dale Sweet

New members were initiated into the Honor Society on October 9, 1944. The qualifications were excellence in scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

This is the pledge which the members took: "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of this Society to which I have been elected, striving in every way, by word and deed, to make its ideals the ideals of my school and life."

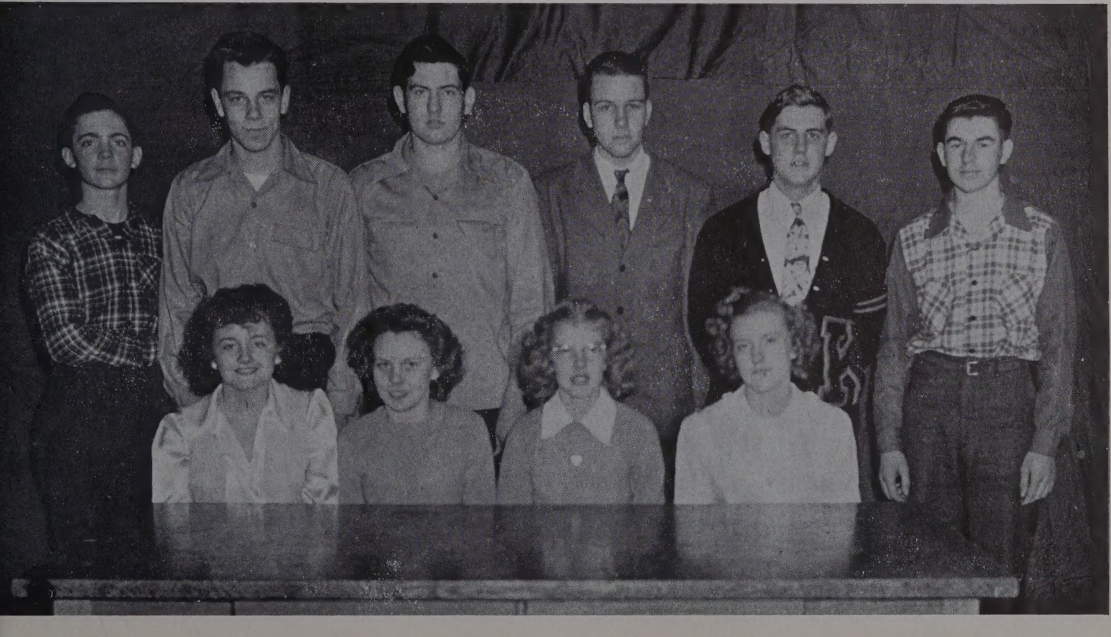


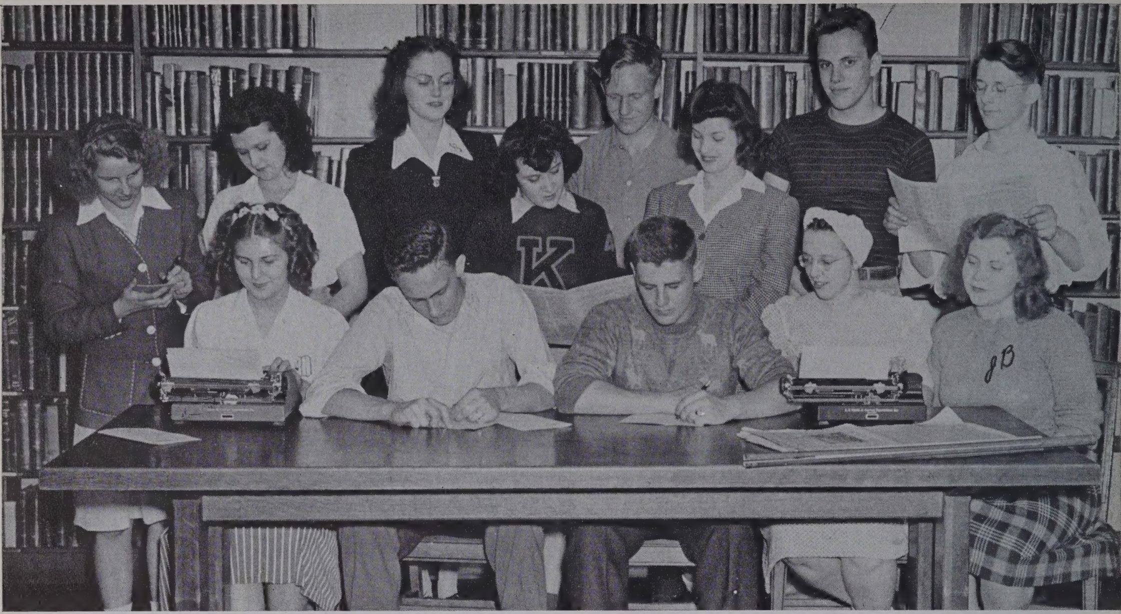
STUDENT COUNCIL

President	Ronald Bergin
Vice-President	John Hage
Secretary	Angela Steffes
Treasurer	Bill Norman

The Student Council of Kelloggsville High School was reorganized in November, after being out of existence for two years. Some members were chosen by the classes; others were appointed by the faculty. Composing a constitution was the chief project of the Council.

STANDING: Donald Hoffman, John Hage, Rodney Finkbeiner, Bill Norman, Ron Bergin, David Straub.
SEATED: Eva Winn, Barbara Bronkema, Thressa Visser, Angela Steffes.





STANDING: Phyllis McMillan, Blanche Clark, Miss Clarke, Phyllis Charon, Joe Talsma, Lois Knight, Claude Carter, Vern Weaver.
SEATED: Delores Petris, Louie Poll, Ron Bergin, Mae Yerrick, Joyce Baldwin

COMET STAFF

Business Manager	Ron Bergin
Art Editor	Delores Petris
Exchange Editor	Joyce Baldwin

The staff for the Comet, the high school paper, was chosen at the beginning of the school year. Different editors were chosen throughout the year and were responsible for individual issues of the paper.

An assembly opened the subscription campaign. The Sophomores were victorious and won the pennant which is always given to the room that has the highest percentage of subscribers.

LIBRARY STAFF

The Library Staff this year is made up of eight high school students chosen because of their character, scholarship, and interest. It was organized by our librarian, Miss Deweerd. Each member has at least one period every day to work in the library.

The purpose of this organization is to train these girls for a possible career and also increase their knowledge of books and libraries.

The members receive a full credit if they remain on the staff at least one year.

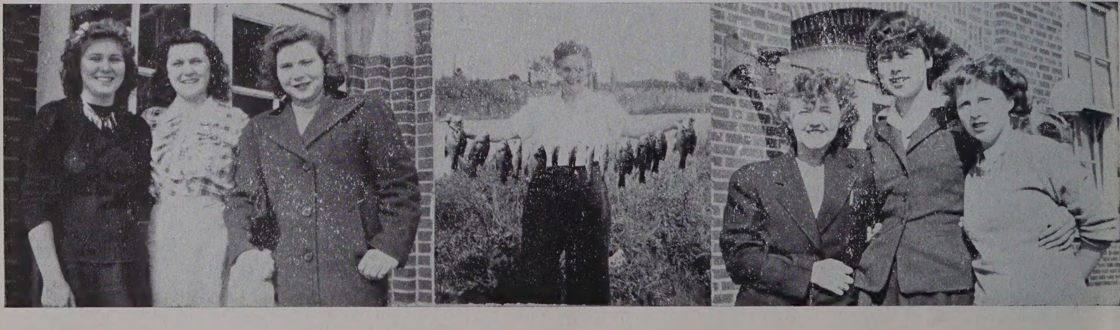
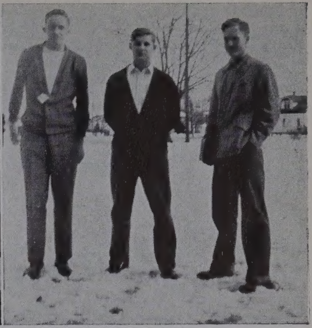
GIRLS' LEAGUE

President	Angela Steffes
Vice-President	Nora Jensen
Secretary	Mae Yerrick
Treasurer	Lorena Wolf

The initiation party for the Girls' League was a spooky one. The members who were being initiated had to go to Home Acres and propose to the first man they saw.

Another party was held at Christmas time when gifts were exchanged.





K CLUB

"K" CLUB OFFICERS

President	Ron Bergin
Vice-President	Louie Poll
Sec. and Treas.	Joe Talsma

The first meeting of the K Club was held in November, 1944. Plans were made at this time for the annual football banquet.

This banquet was held in the school auditorium on December 6. The main dish was venison, supplied by Mr. Formsma.

New members were admitted to the club after they were awarded their letters.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The aim of the Boys' Glee Club is to develop and encourage part singing by male voices.

The boys' voices, combined with the girls', aided greatly in the production of the "Nativity" at Christmas time. Several of the members took solo parts.

Louie Poll represented our school in the Schubert Club Concert at the Civic Auditorium.

The combined glee clubs presented for the first time a variety show which will be an annual event for the purpose of increasing the music department fund.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

This organization participated in school programs and entertainments. Last Yuletide, combined with the Boys' Glee Club, the group presented the "Nativity" to an evening audience of parents and friends, and also to a student assembly.

A girls' sextette was selected from the Glee Club, and solo voices were chosen for many occasions.

A Music Department Fund was started this year. Noon-hour dances, for which Pat Haynes was chairman, were sponsored by the Girls' Glee Club.

RED CROSS COUNCIL

President	Ruth Mills
Secretary	Donna Batt
Treasurer	Claude Carter

Representatives from each home room form the Kelloggsville Junior Red Cross Council. Each month three members of the Council attend the meetings which are held in the Grand Rapids Red Cross Headquarters. Information from these meetings is brought to the School Council and to the home rooms.

The Council was responsible for four hundred popcorn balls, twelve gift boxes, toothbrush handles, Readers' Digest collection, and several other projects requested by the Red Cross Office. A dance was sponsored by the Council.

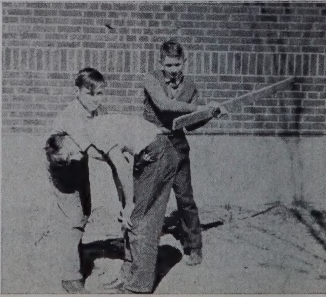
Troop 56 was organized in 1924. Approximately eighty former members are in the armed services. Several have made the supreme sacrifice for their country.

The troop is the proud owner of several awards for service to the Treasury Department and the War Production Board.

Twenty-two boys attended Camp Shawandossee on Duck Lake north of Muskegon during last summer vacation.



GIRL SCOUTS

Scout Leader	Mrs. G. D. Pelton
President	Ella Sybesma
Vice-President	Lillian Pelton
Secretary	Susan Rockwell
Treasurer	Marjorie Creamer

Although this troop is small, its members are very patriotic. Their special activity, an essential part of the war effort, was to act as Junior Nurses' Aides at St. Mary's Hospital. The Aides are Ella Sybesma, Lillian Pelton, Susan Rockwell, Marjorie Creamer, Rita Oriel, and Marian Piersma.

The troop meetings were held on Tuesday nights at seven o'clock.
